

Educate a child for pennies a day

Former child soldiers Ongom and Ronald return home to Pader IDP Camp during vacation with an army escort.

We help our bright, motivated former child soldiers, sex slaves, AIDS orphans, and children in refugee camps attend university and become leaders.

LEAD Uganda provides our leaders with everything they need to succeed: school fees, books, meals, clothes, medical care, workshops in math, science, computers and leadership, emotional support, counseling and a family.

Transform a child's life for the cost of a sandwich or a cappuccino. Give what you can. Even a small contribution makes an enormous difference.

Our Mission

LEAD Uganda is an educational leadership initiative that locates forgotten children with innate talents and molds them into leaders.

LEAD Uganda is a joint project of the Stephen Shames Foundation and Concern for the Future, a Ugandan non-profit that looks after the children.

Concern's staff finds bright, motivated AIDS orphans and former child soldiers and gives them the world-class, 21st-century skills necessary to lead Africa into the future.

Transform a child's life

WE ENROLL OUR SCHOLARS AT THE VERY BEST SCHOOLS AND PREPARE THEM FOR UNIVERSITY.

In a few years LEAD Uganda has transformed the lives of 75 youngsters, turning outsiders into leaders.

- One of our students was accepted at the African Leadership Academy, one of Africa's top high schools.
- Half of our students ranked in the top 10 of their classes.
- A dozen of our students were elected to leadership positions at their schools.

PLEASE HELP EDUCATE A CHILD. With your help, these children will realize their dreams.
